

GERMAN SUBMARINES RAID ATLANTIC COAST

SHIPPING WORTH $6,000,000 DESTROYED; PASSENGERS ALL LANDED IN SAFETY

Washington Fears Ability to Maintain Neutrality is Threatened by Daring Undersea Campaign Begun Off Nantucket Shoals—Americans on Board Torpedoed Ships Tell of Rescues—Continuance of Attacks Expected Along Coast.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 9.—The ability of the United States to maintain its absolute independence and strict neutrality between the European belligerents hung in the balance today. A situation of extreme tension, created by the submarine activity of German warships just outside of the three-mile limit, again has brought home to President Wilson and his advisors a situation fraught with the gravest peril. What the outcome will be no official would hazard a guess today.

For the first time in more than a week, Secretary of State Lansing hurried to his desk in the state department. Admittedly still ill, he considered the latest complications too dangerous to entrust to subordinates to handle. He was in telephonic touch with President Wilson at Shadow Lawn but refused to say anything for publication as to the future course of the department. At the conference with the newspaper correspondents, Secretary Lansing said:

"You have more information than I have and I will not express an opinion. The British ambassador has not protested in the present case so far as I know. Some time ago a British memorandum was filed with this department and we replied but we are not ready to make public either the memorandum or reply."

This referred to the Deutschland protest, it is understood.

At Least Two Subs.

That more than one submarine engaged in the raid which sent to the bottom of the Atlantic more than six million dollars in property was considered certain. The navy department declined to make public more than a summary of the reports sent through from Newport by Admiral Knight. But it was learned that at least two undoesa boats—the U-57 which reported at Newport on Saturday, the U-61 which sank the Stephano and possibly one other have been reported as operating within gun-sound of Nantucket Lightship.

Admiral Knight's Report.

In a summary of the various reports from Rear Admiral Knight, commander at Newport, made public by the navy department, it was stated that all of the passengers and crews of the steamers sunk by German submarines now have been landed with the exception of the crew of the steamer Kingston. The latter's crew is said to be in lifeboats some 30 miles east of Nantucket Lightship and seventeen destroyers are searching for them. The summary of the despatches as made public said:

"Approximately 220 passengers and crews of vessels sunk by submarines have been landed and are now being cared for here. They included 33 women and ten children from the Stephano."

The following are sunk:

"Strathdene, West Point, Stephano, Kingston, Bloomersdijk, Christian Knudsen."

"All hands were saved in each instance with the exception of the crew of the Kingston, who are supposed to be in boats some thirty miles from the Nantucket Lightship. The destroyers are continuing their search for these men. All survivors are being cared for and some have been sent forward to their destinations."

Acted Within Rights.

Up to the present all of the facts available here indicated that the German undersea boats were observing international requirements of stoppage, visitation and search. Officials generally held that their commanders were within their rights in sinking most of the vessels although there was some criticism of the attack on the Stephano because most of her passengers were American citizens.

They were herded into the boats all right, but officials declared that the state department would very likely hold that this action was not satisfactory inasmuch as a strong sea was running. However, German destroyers pointed out they suffered no hardship inasmuch as American destroyers were on the ground ready to take the passengers into port.

Diplomats Are Active.

British and French embassy officials were in almost continuous conference today. Ambassador Jusserot is to see President Wilson tomorrow and singularly enough his mission is the same as that on which Count von Bernstorff confers with the chief executive today—Polish relief. That he will take advantage of the opportunity to discuss the submarine situation is considered certain.

Meanwhile the embassies are receiving further word of the German operation and instruction from their foreign offices.

Allied Embassies Waiting.

While the embassy officials would not be quoted they expressed their position as follows:

"Our attitude now must be a waiting one. At the time the United States permitted the submarine Deutschland to enter Baltimore Harbor and later to clear the Entente Powers filed with the American state department a distinct protest in which it was pointed out that submarines were a new weapon of international warfare and could not be considered in the light of any kind of craft. They were not entitled to the protection of international law, we held."

"Secretary Lansing stated that the Deutschland was a merchant vessel, but did not pass on our main contention that submarines should not be permitted to take refuge in neutral harbors to take on supplies or for any other purpose. He deferred a reply on this question and now we will press for a ruling that will uphold our contentions."

"Meanwhile we are awaiting developments and further instructions from our home governments."

French Changed Rules.

Inasmuch, however, as the Anglo-French reply to the American mails protest is now in the hands of the embassy ready for presentation and it overrules international law as interpreted by this government officials said that it was unlikely that an argument based solely on a proposed "change in the rules of the game" would come in for any unusually prompt action at the hands of the state department.

It was emphasized in official circles that President Wilson will have the last say in any action that may be taken and that before Secretary Lansing moves at all he will confer with the executive. There was much speculation in official circles regarding today's conference between the president and von Bernstorff but no one was ready to hazard a guess as to whether the president would permit an extensive discussion of the new submarine activity.

Expect Another Blow.

When no word was heard today of further operations by the German submarines, officials declared that it was very probable that they had shifted their base. Some of them believe they may now be heard from either in the path of vessels outward-bound from the St. Lawrence or east of the Virginia Capes as the majority of the Entente vessels that would usually pass Nantucket have already changed their course away from that district.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The Newport naval station reported to the navy department today that the American destroyer Flotilla still was searching for the crew of the Canadian steamer Kingston, sunk off Nantucket Shoals.

The report also said that no additional victims of the German submarines had been reported.

Baptists Meet in Troy.

The sixty-sixth anniversary of the Hudson River Baptist Association will be celebrated Tuesday and Wednesday at the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, Troy, N. Y. A fine program has been arranged.

New Teacher at High School.

Miss Dorothy Sagendorf of Poughkeepsie has been engaged by the board of education to assist in teaching chemistry and biology at the Kingston High School. She assumed her duties today.

Important Notice.

The ladies of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will hold a home-made food sale at 32 Broadway, (opposite downtown post office), on Saturday, October 14, from 2 to 6 p. m.

WOMAN TELLS OF SECOND SUBMARINE

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Newport, R. I., Oct. 9.—The British passenger ship Stephano was sunk by the German submarine "U-61" according to Miss Griffin of Tiverton, R. I., a passenger on the liner.

Miss Griffin, upon her arrival here, was taken to the home of Mrs. French Vanderbilt.

If Miss Griffin's information is correct it shows that Germany has sent at least two submarines to American waters. The other is the "U-53."

"We on the Stephano had just finished dinner when a shot was heard," said Miss Griffin. "With others I went on deck and was trying to see what the shot had come from when another was fired. The submarine could be seen partly submerged. She was apparently not trying to hit us for the first two shots were very wide of the mark, but the third jarred us. While the boats were being lowered some of the passengers got excited but the officers and crew kept order. The officers kept yelling at us 'Be calm.' One woman was so scared she tried to jump overboard, but a seaman caught her dress and held her back."

CARRANZA'S RULE DOOMED IN MEXICO

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 9.—The regime of Venustiano Carranza in Mexico is doomed, according to military experts at Fort Sam Houston headquarters of the southern department of the United States army.

With Jose Ysabel Robles heading all the opposition—including Villistas, Legalistas and Diazistas—and General Alvaro Obregon turning against the first chief because of his election of September 29 ordering the election of a president by congress instead of by popular vote, and a four year term, Carranza apparently has not a leg to stand on. Instead of Carranza having united all factions against the United States, reports indicate all the factions are united against Carranza.

Carranza's military election decree was unpopular. Villa, Zapata, Robles, Diaz, Trevino and all the other bands of revolutionaries are said to fear he may be trying to assume a dictatorship.

Mexico's fate rests on Obregon or Robles, the experts say. Salazar is working with Robles, only sixty miles south of Juarez.

WARDEN OSBORNE RESIGNS POSITION

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Oct. 9.—Word was received at the state prison department today that Thomas Mott Osborne had tendered his resignation as warden of Sing Sing prison, to take effect October 16. The resignation was voluntary.

SHIPS AND CARGOS WORTH $6,000,000

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 9.—Shipping valued approximately at $6,000,000 was sent to the bottom in a few hours in the first German submarine foray off the United States coast. The Dutch freighter Bloomersdijk with her cargo of wheat was valued at $1,500,000 while the passenger liner Stephano and her cargo was valued at nearly a million dollars.

Marine traffic has been badly affected and it is expected that many sailings will be cancelled at this and other American ports.

The question of increasing insurance rates is being considered by the New York Fire and Marine underwriters.

FRENCH CRUISER SUNK; 638 LOST

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Oct. 9.—The French auxiliary cruiser Gallia, of 14,956 tons, carrying 2,000 French and Serbian troops, was torpedoed on October 4. It was announced here today. Out of the total, 638 lives were lost, the remainder of the troops floated about for more than 12 hours on rafts and boats. They were picked up the next day by a French cruiser and two large boats and have arrived off the southern coast of Sardinia.

As the torpedo, which was dispatched, it is believed, by a German submarine, entered the big vessel's side, a terrific blast blew the ship into atoms. The missile had exploded in the munitions bunker.

It is believed the Gallia was on the way to Salonika and came from Corsica, where French and Serbian troops are stationed.

The Gallia's wireless was destroyed, preventing the ship from calling for help in the few minutes before what was left of her sank. The French cruiser which saved the survivors on the following day was summoned by a patrol boat.

The Gallia is one of the largest vessels of the Compagnie de Navigation Sud-Atlantique and before the war plied between French and South Atlantic ports. She was built in 1913 and hailed from Bordeaux.

PRESIDENT WILL WAIT FOR FACTS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Shadow Lawn, Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 9.—President Wilson will take no formal action nor make any statement on the extension of Germany's submarine warfare to the United States coast until he has received all the facts through official channels. This was made known today.

A preliminary report from Secretary of the Navy Daniels said that apparently no lives had been lost in the attacks on Sunday and that, so far as known, the submarine commanders had complied with the rules of war. No official report was received up to noon on the British steamship Kingston, torpedoed 30 miles off Nantucket, but destroyers are in the vicinity looking for the crew, which is still missing.

Secretary Daniels is continuing his investigation and further communications were expected from him this afternoon.

The appointment of Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, to meet President Wilson this afternoon has taken on added significance. The original object of the visit was for the presentation of a letter from the Kaiser on relief work in Poland.

FARMERS ANXIOUS TO BORROW MONEY

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Oct. 9.—The interest of the American farmer in the work of the new Rural Credits Act has waxed so keen that the farm loan board at Washington is literally swamped with inquiries as to details of the new law. More than 100,000 inquiries already have been received.

To meet this demand the Farm Loan board is preparing a Farm Loan Primer. This book, which will be available for wide distribution will tell in simple language all about the new rural credits system. It will be compiled in question-and-answer form, the questions being those which the Farm Loan board discovered were most asked by the farmers on its recent trans-continental tour.

The book is expected to be off the press in about two weeks.

PASSENGERS TELL OF "SUB" ATTACK ON SEVEN SHIPS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Newport, R. I., Oct. 9.—Three British cruisers that arrived off Nantucket Shoals today are scouring the Atlantic for the German submarine that sank at least six merchant ships during the past thirty-six hours.

A wireless report, picked up by the United States destroyer Ericsson, that the total number of victims was nine ships had not been confirmed, up to an early hour.

Reports of further attacks on merchant ships were hourly awaited as there are more than a score of freight and passenger ships in or near the danger zone off the New England coast. Of the imperilled fleet 13 are British ships and two are Americans. A fleet of United States men of war is patrolling the coast to protect American neutrality.

More British warships are ordered on the scene.

Seven Known Victims.

The known victims of Germany's submarine warfare at the very threshold of the United States are:

"Strathdene, British freighter, 4,321 tons; New York for Bordeaux."

"West Point, British freighter, 2,413 tons, London for Newport News."

"Stephano, British passenger ship, 2,143 tons, Newfoundland for New York."

"Kingston, British freighter; destination and tonnage uncertain."

"Bloomersdijk, Dutch steamer, 3,201 tons, New York to Rotterdam."

"Christian Knudsen, Norwegian auxiliary steamer, 2,000 tons; New York for London."

So far as known this morning no lives were lost, but the crew of the Kingston was still missing.

Three Subs Engaged?

The German war submersible which brought the war to the doorway of the United States is believed to be the "U-53" which visited Newport Saturday.

There is apparently ground for belief, however, that there were two and perhaps three submarines engaged.

Survivors of the Stephano, who arrived here on board the Ericsson, said that the ship was warned and the passengers and crew given a chance to take to the boats. German seamen then went on board and opened her seacocks. She was neither tormented nor shelled.

This, it is believed here, indicates that the submarine commander was taking precautions to prevent break with the United States over the latest outbreak of submarine warfare.

Nine Ships Attacked.

Reports that nine ships were attacked and that three submarines were engaged instead of one were contained in a wireless message from the Nantucket station, picked up by the Ericsson.

An important part was played throughout by this destroyer. She was in plain view of the attack upon the Stephano. Officers said that the British passenger ship was halted by three shots fired across her bow by the submarine. The Stephano carried 73 passengers, many of them citizens of the United States.

One of the passengers was Charles T. Evans, of Germantown, Pa. He was responsible for the statement that the Stephano had been sunk by filling her hold with water.

Woman Passenger's Story.

Mrs. Marion Cutter of Brooklyn said that the Stephano was held up about 6 o'clock.

"We had just seated ourselves when a shot was fired across the ship's bow," said she. "We were told to leave the room as quickly as possible and as we were doing so two more shots were fired. There was amazement but no disorder."

"The captain told us that we were to get into the boats, all of which were quickly lowered."

"Darkness had fallen by that time and we did not see the ship again."

Newport's First Aid.

Mrs. Elsie French Vanderbilt, Mrs. R. Livingston Beekman and other members of the millionaire colony here, had automobiles at the pier to give aid to the survivors. Mrs. Cutter was one of those assisted by Mrs. Vanderbilt.

The chief of the Stephano, A. C. Tikkel of New York, said that the captain had been warned by a wireless message at noon that a German submarine was in the neighborhood.

Women and Children First.

"I was working in the galley when I heard the first shot about 5:45 o'clock," said Tikkel. "We had just started to serve dinner. Stewards came running down saying a shell had struck the water about five yards from the ship. Captain Smith immediately stopped the vessel and sent down word we should all be prepared to leave at once. Women and children were placed in the boats first and all made off."

"I distinctly saw the submarine. As we approached the Ericsson I saw her decks cleared for action and we wondered if she was going to open fire on the German boat."

"We were all taken on board the Ericsson. I was standing on the deck watching the submarine when her conning tower opened and four men appeared. In some way the sides of the boat seemed to open and a small boat appeared as if by magic. It started for the Stephano just as the last lifeboat left the ship."

Captain Last to Leave.

"Captain Smith was the last man to leave his ship. He was only about 200 yards away when the German seamen boarded the vessel. They scurried about on the decks for a while and then went below. Five minutes later they reappeared and immediately the Stephano began to settle."

Leo Burton, fourth engineer, and John Kavanaugh, third engineer of the Stephano, corroborated Tikkel's story.

There were ten children among the refugees on the Ericsson, one of them an infant in arms. The total number of refugees on the Ericsson, the Drayton, the Benham and Jenkins was 216.

LAWTON BUILDING GUTTED BY FIRE

Occupied by Roedel Machine Shops, Lawton's Foundry and Lyons, Koffler Pants Factory—Loss Believed to be Covered by Insurance.

The Lawton building on Prince street, occupied on the first floor by the William A. Roedel machine shops, with Lawton's foundry in the rear, and the pants factory of Lyons, Koffler & Liebermann Company, on the second floor, was gutted by fire shortly after midnight Saturday.

The fire was discovered by Joseph McKown, who turned in an alarm to which the fire department responded. When Deputy Fire Chief Murphy reached the scene he immediately turned in a second alarm. By hard work on the part of the fire department the blaze was kept from spreading to the adjoining buildings.

Fire department officials believe that the fire started on the second floor of the building in the pants factory. The fire had gained considerable headway before it was discovered. Just what caused the fire is not known, but it is thought it may have been started by spontaneous combustion of rags and waste.

Mr. Koffler of the firm conducting the pants factory estimated the loss to the factory at $22,000, which included material on hand and the machinery. The loss is covered by insurance.

The Lawton property, which does not include the Roedel machine shops, was insured for $32,500, of which amount $19,000 was carried by William C. DeWitt, $3,000 with the Pardee Agency, $13,500 with Albert Mauerstock and $7,000 with David DeWitt.

It was nearly 7 o'clock Sunday morning before the fire was gotten out. The blaze was seen for miles around, and a huge crowd gathered at the scene called there by the second alarm. In fact so large was the crowd that it was necessary to put up fire lines.

Not This Myers.

The Mr. Myers, who is engaged in litigation over a suit of clothes with Joseph Nordum, the tailor, which was tried in city court last week is not the Frank H. Myers employed by Williams, the florist.

MARKETS REFLECT SUBMARINE RAIDS

Heavy Selling of Stocks Sends Marine and Steel Down—Cotton and Grain Exchanges Also Affected.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 9.—There was a sharp decline in prices at the opening of the stock market today due to the German submarine raid off the New England coast. Heavy sales reflected the anxiety felt in some quarters that the foray may imperil the relations between this country and Germany. The slump carried prices down from 5 to 10 points. Mercantile Marine preferred, which closed Saturday at 119½, opened at 112 and quickly dropped to 108. U. S. Steel was also strongly affected, opening at 112 and then dropping to 109. Its opening price was ¼ under Saturday's closing.

During the first half hour of trading there were scenes of wild confusion on the floor of the exchange. Repeated efforts were made by big interests to stop the selling movement.

Excitement in Cotton.

New York, Oct. 9.—There was more excitement on the cotton exchange today than on any day since the board reopened in December, 1914. The activities of German submarines caused the initial tone to show weak. A fairly good demand developed and within a few minutes the market steadied.

Drop in Wheat.

Chicago, Oct. 9.—Germany's renewed submarine activity caused a drop of from two to four and one-half cents in wheat on the opening of the board of trade today.

Corn declined a cent and oats opened fractionally lower. Provisions opened generally lower.

The market was distinctly uneasy.

WANT TRIAL HELD IN DUTCHESS CO.

Vassar Hospital Defendant in Damage Action Brought by Dr. Male of New Paltz For Death of Son.

A suit to recover damages for the death of his infant son was brought sometime ago by Dr. Jonathan T. Male of New Paltz against the Vassar Brothers' hospital of Poughkeepsie, and before Judge Hasbrouck Saturday a motion was made on behalf of the hospital to change the place of trial from Ulster to Dutchess county on the ground that the trial of the case in Ulster county would seriously impair the hospital work by taking away from them duties a number of the doctors and nurses.

Dr. Male's child underwent an operation at the hospital to relieve the lungs in connection with a severe attack of pneumonia, and according to Dr. Male, death was caused by negligence in failing to shut off a suction siphon. On the ground of mistreatment on the part of doctors and nurses he commenced suit against the hospital through Brinnier & Canfield of this city. The motion to change the place of trial to Dutchess county was made on behalf of the hospital by Charles F. Cossum of Poughkeepsie, and was opposed by Corporation Counsel Brinnier and Mayor Canfield. Corporation Counsel Brinnier, in opposing the motion, said the hospital in Poughkeepsie employed incompetent help.

"Don't you think that the charitable institution should be bothered as little as possible in its regular operation during the trial of this case?" inquired Judge Hasbrouck. "Yes that is probably so," said Corporation Counsel Brinnier, but if they murdered this child they should be held to strict accountability and the hospital is in no different position from any other defendant."

"A hospital is not established for the purpose of committing murder but to alleviate pain, suffering and distress," said Judge Hasbrouck. "On the broad ground of justice irrespective of technicalities, would not the ends of justice be subserved by changing the place of trial?"

Corporation Counsel Brinnier did not think so, because some of his client's witnesses resided at New Paltz and in Kingston. "Will not the operation of the hospital be seriously discommoded by the removal of three of its doctors and six of its nurses to Kingston for several days?" asked Judge Hasbrouck. "Probably so," said Corporation Counsel Brinnier, "but they have enough graduate nurses in this big hospital, these witnesses are not graduate nurses, but nurses in training."

Mr. Cossum explained that the hospital had thirteen nurses and that every patient had the supervision of the head nurse and the care, attention and supervision of all the nurses.

Judge Hasbrouck reserved decision.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 9, 1916.

The long experience which Frederick G. Traver has had in the administration of criminal law in Ulster county particularly qualifies him for the important office of district attorney, and the spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm over his designation in the Republican county convention in August was again manifested by the enrolled Republicans on primary day. Faithfulness to the trust imposed in him has been characteristic of Mr. Traver as an official, as a member of the bar and as a man. Possessing keen insight, thoroughly familiar with the law in all its branches but still continuing to be a student of it, blessed by nature with an even temperament and both by nature and association with a rare sense of justice, Mr. Traver has commended himself to everyone who has watched the work of our courts or in any way has come in contact with the district attorney's office. Association with such men as Judge Cantine, Judge Stephan and Judge Cunningham, who have been his immediate predecessors in the office and to each of whom he has been an invaluable assistant, resulted in each of his associates expressing the highest regard for his judgment, his integrity and his ability, and the judgment of those men who came in closest contact with him for a period of many years has been no different from the judgment of the casual acquaintance. The work accomplished by the grand jury that was in attendance at the term of county court just closed is not different from the results which he has helped to bring about for many years. With the administration of the criminal law in District Attorney Traver's hands, the people of Ulster county irrespective of political affiliations are satisfied and content. They will elect Mr. Traver.

The Congressman whose conduct is based on the principle that public office is a public trust is not always easy to find, and the pork barrel appropriations of the Congress which President Wilson wants sent back to Washington have been so outrageous that districts everywhere are scrutinizing their Congressional candidates with the utmost care. With rare exceptions within the memory of the oldest voter, Ulster county always has formed part of a Congressional district whose representatives have devoted their energies to looking after the needs of their constituents with the greatest fidelity. For the past two years our representative has been indefatigable in working for the best interests of his entire district, and it was therefore natural that when the counties some time ago considered their Congressional standard bearer for the present campaign that Charles B. Ward of Liberty should be chosen unanimously for renomination by the Republican party. His experience in Washington during two years has made him familiar with the official channels through which it is necessary to pass to procure favorable consideration of the requests of his district and his constituents, and without exception he has treated all of the component parts of his district with the utmost fairness and justice. Success has crowned his efforts in every case, and Congressman Ward is probably known personally to more voters of his district because of his active work in their behalf than a majority of the Representatives in Washington. His presence is needed there during the next two years and there is no doubt but that he will be overwhelmingly re-elected.

The record of accomplishment of Abram P. Lefever of New Paltz during the three years he has served the Second Assembly District of Ulster county as its representative in the lower house of the State Legislature is not easily equalled for a like period of time. Experience either makes or breaks a man in public life, and Mr. Lefever has profited by his experience to the credit and benefit not only of his district but of the entire county and state. He is known in Albany, the same as he is known in Ulster county, as a man who does things, who accomplishes results, who gets what he seeks. A notable illustration of the character trait is the appropriation for the addition to the New Paltz Normal School. There was no doubt about the Normal School needing the appropriation but it was difficult to convince enough of the representatives gathered from all parts of the state that such was the fact. They had not visited New Paltz and each was interested besides in particular measures which occupied much of their time. Acquaintance, bogat confidence, and with the confidence founded on such honest manhood as Mr. Lefever possesses, the needs of the Normal as explained by Mr. Lefever began to attract attention until he commanded the attention of the entire legislative body and they passed his bill, which was sanctioned by Governor Whitman. There are many such cases to be found in Mr. Lefever's work during the past three years at Albany. His attention to the legislation which the city of New York attempted to foist on Ulster county in order to escape its just share of taxation is too recent to need comment. What he has done is an indication of what he will continue to do. Ulster cannot afford to lose so valuable a public official.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

The opinions most apt to do us good are those we resent.—Life.

Theda—"Our new club president is a decided blond." Celeste—"Yes; but I understand she only decided very recently."—Judge.

"I see the word 'obey' is to be left out of the marriage ritual." "Yes, the church people evidently thought the ritual was no place for a joke."—Houston Post.

Ethel—"Poor Jack! When he proposed to me he acted like a fish out of water." Marie—"Why shouldn't he? He knew he was caught."—Boston Transcript.

A conceited young clergyman, walking home from church with one of the ladies of his congregation, remarked: "I preached this morning to a congregation of asses." "I thought of that," observed the lady, "when you called them 'beloved brethren'."—Boston Transcript.

What's in a Name.

A hungry customer seated himself at a table in a quick-lunch restaurant and ordered chicken pie. When it was served, he raised the cover and sat staring at the contents. Finally, he called the waiter.

"Look here, Sam," he said, "what did I order?"

"Chicken pie, sah."

"And what have you brought me?"

"Chicken pie, sah."

"Chicken pie? You black rascal! Chicken pie? Why, there's not a piece of chicken in it, and there never was!"

"Dat's right, boss—dey ain't no chicken in it."

"Then why do you call it chicken pie?" I never heard of such a thing!"

"Dat's right, boss. Dey don't have to be no chicken in a chicken pie. Dey ain't no dog in a dog biscuit, is dey?"—Magology.

Properly Squelched.

A late police magistrate was a most painstaking judge in all his cases, and in important ones it was his custom to defer summing up until the next sitting of the court. On one occasion he gave an exhaustive decision on a case after which the lawyer for the plaintiff rose and questioned it.

"Pardon me," said his worship, "I cannot allow you to reopen this case after I have given my final decision. I may be wrong, but that is my opinion."

The lawyer quickly replied:

"Now, your worship, I know it is no use knocking my head against a brick wall. I suppose I must sit down."

The magistrate adjusted his eyeglasses and looking satistically at the lawyer said:

"Sir, I know it is no use your knocking your head against a brick wall; but I may add that I know of no one who could perform such an operation with less injury to himself than you."—Exchange.

Too Bad, Indeed.

Mrs. Cummuter had lain awake with a headache till 1 o'clock. Then in the balance of the night she had responded to several calls for a drink, a doll, and all the other nocturnal infantile orders. At 5 in the morning, as she was just beginning to round out the first continuous hour of slumber, the little six-year-old girl called softly from her nearby crib:

"Mother."

No answer. Again, a little louder.

"Mother."

Mother said nothing. Again the child's voice, this time mezzo-forte:

"Mother."

"Well, what is it?"

"Mother, isn't it too bad that one of Harry McCain's pollywogs died?"

JUDGE HASBROUCK WILL HEAR CASE

Tony Denier's Suit Against Wife Will Not Go to Reference—Attorney Grogan Makes Spirited Plea.

Tony Denier's suit to recover $17,000 from his wife, Louise Sully Denier, came before Judge Hasbrouck at Saturday's special term of the supreme court on a motion by Brinlier & Canfield, attorneys for Mrs. Denier, for the appointment of a referee on the ground that the suit involved an accounting.

The action is brought for specific performance, Mr. Denier, who is now an inmate of the City Home in this city, alleging that after his marriage to the defendant, who was the widow of Daniel Sully, the actor of Woodstock, he advanced $17,000 to his wife with which she paid mortgages, taxes and outstanding obligations, on her promise to execute a bond and mortgage to him, as security. She never executed them.

William H. Grogan, who appeared for Tony Denier, who in his day was one of the most famous clowns in the United States, said in opposition to the motion that his client was without the money to pay a referee's fees and stenographer's fees, and unless a trial could be had in court it would amount to a denial of justice. Motions for a compulsory reference had been made at various trial terms of the supreme court for the past year and had been denied. As the moneys had been advanced at various times, beginning immediately after their marriage five years ago, there were about three hundred checks, and when Mrs. Denier's counsel had demanded a bill of particulars, he had set up these checks in complying with their demand.

Mayor Canfield said that Mrs. Denier had offered repeatedly to settle the case by taking her husband back to her home and furnishing him with his clothes and meals, but he had constantly refused her offer of settlement. Mayor Canfield claimed that the judges holding trial terms here had not passed on the motion for a reference.

Judge Hasbrouck said he would try the case, which is on the calendar for the present term of the supreme court.

State College, Pa., Oct. 9.—Dick Harlow, head coach of Pennsylvania State football team, is building a strong eleven here for the coming season. Last year Penn State lost but two games on the schedule, one to Harvard and one to the University of Pittsburgh.

What the Egg Is Made of.

It has often been claimed that the white of an egg is pure albumen, but that it also contains phosphoric acid and sodium chloride or common salt has been proved. The fatty part of the egg, also phosphorus, calcium sulphur in the egg, no doubt, accounts for the dark stains left by eggs on silver.

FATIMA

A Sensible Cigarette

Such men want comfort
AFTER smoking

IT'S NOTICEABLE that more and more substantial men are choosing Fatimas for their steady smoke. There must be some reason for it. Surely, these men would quickly pay a far higher price for another cigarette if it suited them better.

That is just it. No other cigarette can quite give what Fatimas give.

Some other cigarettes taste good, yes. But Fatimas do more—they are comfortable. Not only are they comfortable to the throat and tongue while you smoke them, but, much more important, they leave a man feeling keen and "fit" AFTER smoking, even though he smokes more than usual.

pounds when in rowing condition. Back in 1908 Kelly started his rowing career at the Chamounix Boat club, Philadelphia. He did not do any racing while a member of that club, but got the rowing fever, and at the end of six weeks joined the Montrose Boat club.
Kelly's stay at Montrose was also short. He was invited to join several of the bigger clubs, and in two months he enrolled with the Vespers.Kelly became a full-fledged Vesper oarsman in 1909. From that time on he continued to rise in sculling.While Kelly failed in his ambition to become the national champion in the senior sculls at the recent regatta held in Duluth, he ran into some of the roughest water an oarsman has been fured to tackle, and the race was hardly a criterion of his ability, or of that of Rooney of the Ravenswood club, New York, who won the event.While Kelly has been with the Vesper club he has sat in 55 winning boats, and on the past Fourth of July, in the people's regatta in his home city,

was the stroke out of four victorious shells. In all this season his racing log shows 13 triumphs, one of the greatest achievements in the history of rowing. Single and double sculls are Kelly's favorite events, but he can stroke a four or an eight-oared shell with the best of them, as has been attested by his versatile record in the aquatic sport.Aside from being a remarkable oar-man, Kelly is also noted as a basketball center, fullback in football, a clever swimmer and can also box well.
In winter he keeps in condition by playing the cage game. Last season he jumped center for the West Branch
Y. M. C. A. of Philadelphia, and was regarded as one of the best touch-off men outside of the Eastern league.Kelly does not play as much football as he did four or five years ago, as his coach and friends have advised him to give up the game on account of the risk. There are few better swimmers to be found anywhere than Kelly, and he can more than take care of himself when he puts on the gloves.GOLF BUGS MORE NUMEROUSFormer Baseball Rooters Now Go Out

JOEL BRINK IDEAL TYPE OF OFFICIAL

Republican Nominee for Assembly, First District, Has Made Unimpeachable Record in Town and County Affairs.

The Republican candidate for member of assembly from the First district of Ulster county is Joel Brink of Lake Katrine, one of the best known business men of the district. Mr. Brink was born in 1868, a son of the late Andrew Brink and Sarah Osterhout Brink. He was educated at the Katrine public school and at Kingston Academy. Later with his brother, Theodore, he took up the general mercantile business, years before founded by his father and now for years widely known as a most successfully conducted business enterprise. He had always taken an active interest in town and county affairs, but not until 1903 did he seek public office.

In that year a determined effort was made to change conditions of affairs in the town of Ulster and Mr. Brink was prevailed upon to stand as the Republican nominee for supervisor. Good citizens of both parties rallied to his support but a large majority for his opponent at the Edenville poll indicated an apparent defeat. A recount of the ballots was had and Mr. Brink was declared elected, and certain inspectors of election were indicted. This was the end of election conditions in the town which had become notorious. Mr. Brink was later three times easily re-elected, declining a fifth nomination.

During his term of office town affairs found by him to be in a bad financial condition were put upon a proper basis and by the application of business methods and honest administration, when he retired the town was out of debt. During his term of office his ability and knowledge of county matters led to his being chosen chairman of the board of supervisors and no man has a better grasp of county conditions and needs than has he. For several years he served as one of the board of managers of the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Mr. Brink married Anna Kieffer of Lake Katrine and he has one child. He is a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., and of Lake Katrine Grange.

Mr. Brink's recognized standing as a business man, his proved integrity, his intimate acquaintance with county affairs and his knowledge of legislative methods and procedure make him a candidate who must appeal to the thoughtful voter of his district.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

The Mouth in Sickness.
The diet of the person who is very ill causes an unpleasant feeling in the mouth which is not experienced when in health. In sickness of every kind and in fevers especially the inside of the mouth must be carefully washed several times a day. In the mouth germs grow rapidly, and unless the mouth is very clean the germs will be swallowed and get into the stomach and cause the illness to be prolonged. The best mouth wash is inexpensive—it can be made of boric acid—two full teaspoonsful dissolved in a tumblerful of boiling water and used when cold. Some of the liquid tooth washes sold in the shops contain thymol and cleansing and efficient disinfectants and can be used if the boric acid solution is objectionable to the patient. The mouth must be rinsed with the solution three or four times a day. The patient's teeth must be kept carefully brushed as well. An acidulated wash relieves dryness in the mouth and is also cleansing. This can be made of a tablespoonful of lemon juice, a tablespoonful of glycerin and four teaspoonfuls of water. This may be used alternately with the disinfectant.

Everybody's Sentimental.

The truth is that we are all sentimental at heart, whatever our culture. Even though we appreciate Brahms, shall we not find some pleasure in the repertoire of the band organ, and though we admire Botticelli, shall we utterly condemn "Daisy and Joan"? There are moods in which Jean Ingelow and Mrs. Hemans are not makeshift. The thousands still weep over the death of Little Nell, though the critics sneer.—Robert M. Gay, in Atlantic.

Clock Proved a Friend.

Alice takes music lessons and considers it a great hardship to have to practice one-half hour each day. She has a little clock on the piano, and makes sure that she does not spend more than the allotted time at her lesson. One day her mother was talking with a neighbor out in the back yard when Alice ran out in great excitement, calling: "Mother, I can't practice any more. The clock has stopped."

UNVEIL MONUMENT TO SAMUEL J. TILDEN

Unique Ceremonies Saturday at Bigelow Homestead at Malden-on-Hudson—Speakers Pay Tribute to Worth of Former Governor of New York State.

The anniversary of the death of John Bigelow, one of the distinguished sons of Ulster county, was observed at his old homestead on the banks of the Hudson at Malden-on-Hudson Saturday by the unveiling of the first monument to Samuel J. Tilden, of whose will Mr. Bigelow was one of the executors. No more beautiful setting for such a ceremony could be found and no more brilliant gathering of distinguished men and women has been held in Ulster county in many a day. The bust unveiled was by Kitson, and was carved shortly after the great campaign of 1876, when Mr. Tilden was a candidate for the presidency.

In the natural amphitheater in front of the old homestead flew the flags of France, England and the United States. Poulitney Bigelow was master of ceremonies, and seated upon the steps of the homestead porch and upon sawed logs set on end was a remarkable gathering. Miss Elise Hasbrouck sang to the accompaniment of Melville Clark the harpist. The school children of Malden sang in chorus. Miss Hasbrouck sang an encore, "Annie Laurie" in a manner and with a depth of feeling that swept the cultured and critical audience from its improvised chairs.

Mr. Bigelow introduced first the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott who delivered the invocation and then launched out into a criticism of the Wilson administration for the proposal to buy the Danish West Indies. Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant Secretary of the Navy, delivered a eulogy upon Mr. Tilden and won the applause of his audience by advocating a bigger navy. Clarence Ousley, President of the Texas State Agricultural College, rolled back the pages of history and discussed the "Crime of '76" which shameful and fateful fraud he said had deprived the Nation of Tilden's services as president, to which he traced the attempt to substitute a pure democracy for a representative democracy. President Ousley denied that the voice of the people was always the voice of God. He said that it was idle to say that the people will never do wrong, and that when the judgment of the people is formed in hate and haste it is but the impulse of a mob. The Rev. Thomas Cole of Saugerties delivered the benediction.

Among those present were Colonel Biddle, Superintendent of the West Point Military Academy; President MacCracken of Vassar; Mrs. W. A. Hazard, niece of Mr. Tilden; Mrs. J. Preston, widow of Grover Cleveland, and her husband; Miss Grace Bigelow and Mrs. Charles E. Tracy of Highland Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, chairman of the board of directors of the Hudson River; Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Livingston of Clermont; Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Chapman; Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Livingston; Charles R. Crane, former minister to China; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel French of Lenox; Countess Elizabeth Armin; Al and Mrs. William Church Osborn; Professor Edward Everett Hale; Mr. and Mrs. Gutzon Borghum; Edward Hatch, Paul Dana, Judge and Mrs. Clearwater, Mr. and Mrs. John D. WHIPPLE HANDED OVER A $10 BILL

Former Conservation Chief Paid Costs in Re-opening Excise Litigation to Recover Penalty on E. M. Gallagher's Bond.

A motion for judgment on the pleadings was made before Judge Hasbrouck at Saturday's special term of the Supreme court in the action brought by George E. Green as state commissioner of excise against Edward M. Gallagher of this city and Illinois Surety company. There was also a motion for a severance of the action, which is brought to recover a penalty for violation of the liquor tax law. The surety company is insolvent.

Former Conservation Commissioner James S. Whipple appeared for the state commissioner of excise and stated that the motion had been returnable sometime ago at another special term but on the return day the counsel for the state commissioner was ill with pneumonia poisoning in a hospital and the motion had been dismissed by default, and he moved to open the default and restate the state commissioner's motion.

Judge Hasbrouck granted the motion to open the default on payment of $10 costs. Corporation Counsel William D. Brinnier objected to the sufficiency of the motion papers, but Judge Hasbrouck held that they were sufficient.

Mr. Whipple announced that he was ready to proceed with the argument of the demurrer interposed by Gallagher. Corporation Counsel Brinnier objected to proceeding until the $10 costs were paid, and Mr. Whipple promptly handed him over a ten dollar bill, which Mr. Brinnier placed in his pocket. Mr. Whipple said he was now ready to proceed, but Mr. Brinnier said he had anticipated that his preliminary objection to the hearing of the motion would be sustained, and therefore he was not ready to proceed. Mr. Whipple announced that he was perfectly willing to wait until the next special term and would come here then.

SCHOOLGIRL WARDROBE.

What the Going Away Girl Will Need This Fall.

Often there are so many big and important matters to attend to that little conveniences and comforts are overlooked, and having the right things and necessities at the right time does help so much!

First, of course, on the list is the trunk. Two small ones are preferable to one large one, say some schools. In this event a wardrobe trunk and a regulation trunk is a splendid combination. Money spent on a good trunk is well spent, so get as good a trunk as you can afford. This is not one of the items on which to economize.

The school will furnish you with a list of the required bedding. She'll probably want a quilted bed pad, a down comforter, blankets, and most schools suggest four sheets and four pillowcases. Half a dozen wash cloths, half a dozen bath towels and a dozen smaller towels is a good assortment. A dozen napkins may be added, and then, to hold them all when they are soiled, add a couple of generous size laundry bags.

She'll need, of course, a suit, a topcoat, possibly one quite heavy, and such morning and afternoon blouses and frocks as her individual purse and taste suggest. Gym clothes, a riding suit and evening clothes are also a matter for individual choosing.

Comfortable shoes, not forgetting a pair of storm rubbers, even though she does not like to wear them, are important considerations. Good, heavy walking shoes for tramps and hikes, best shoes, party slippers, gym shoes, galter and bedroom slippers are essential. A stout denim shoe bag is a satisfactory addition to the list.

For the addresses of the friends at home tuck in one of the compact and attractive little morocco or seal address books. And there will be some play as well as work, so see that her card case is well filled with visiting cards for the times she goes calling.

When she is hard at it, grinding away, she may forget to take care of her eyes. A good cresshade is an excellent protection and costs very little.

Any girl who has ever owned one can tell you of the joys of a flashlight candlestick, and the pocket flashlight is just as helpful. And during the term she may need to take some medicine, so that one of the new folding spoons will be most useful.

of kolinsky fur with bow and tails on the right side gives a finish as attractive as it is suitable.

The Fall Suit.

First of all, it will show even a more decided waist line than the spring suit, making a corset with a drawn in waist very necessary. The jacket is apt to be long, coming only six or eight inches above the skirt edge. It is very wide, for fall coats will all flare, indeed, the average coat will measure four or five yards around the bottom. The flare is accomplished by gores or plaits. The coats will button to the neck, to turn back in revers if desired. The sleeves are long, with deep cuffs. The suit skirts will quite often be box plaited and remain about eight inches from the ground.

Lining for Bureau Drawers.

Lining bureau drawers with wall paper gives a pretty effect. See, first of all, if you have some remnants of the paper with which the walls of the room have been covered, if the pattern is suitable for the purpose. At any rate, remnants of attractive designs of wall paper may be bought at low prices. Flowered papers are especially good. Fortunately, wall paper comes in just about the right width for lining bureau drawers. Fasten down the corners of the lining with thumb tacks.

Two Egg Cakes.

Won't you all try this new recipe for cake? Two eggs beaten separately, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of flour, one-half cupful of cream of tartar, one-half cupful of soda, one-half cupful of hot milk. Flavor and bake forty minutes in a moderate oven.

ESSAD PACHA

ESSAD PACHA UNDER DEATH SENTENCE

Essad Pacha.

A report is current in London that a Turkish court martial in Constantinople has passed the death sentence on Essad Pacha, formerly provision president of Albania.

He was charged with having conspired with hands against the Turkish empire and with having declared war on Turkey.

Essad Pacha was decorated for his rank in the Turkish army after he joined the Italians in Albania in January, 1916. He later went to Rome, and in March left for Paris, where he was received by the President, Mr. Briand. He was sentenced to death at Constantinople in June, and in August was reported to be commanding an Albanian contingent which landed at Salonica.

Too Late for Regrets.

Nancy was ready to go to her first party. "Try to be careful of this little blue dress, dear," cautioned her mother. "I am afraid it will not be so pretty after it is washed." An hour later Nancy came running home, sobbing wildly, holding up the skirt of her blue frock. "I did be careful," she sobbed, "but the ice cream fell in my lap. Oh, how I wish I had gone bare naked to the party!"

Spreading Happiness.

"I want someone to be glad that I was born," said a lonely woman; so she celebrated her birthday by carrying gifts to others as lonely as herself—to the poor, the sick, and the sad. It is pleasant to be remembered, and to receive presents, but the noblest, best and happiest thought that can come to us on our birthdays is that we can make someone happier because we were born.—Selected.

SOCIETY WOMAN PLANS NEW AMBULANCE SERVICE.

New York, Oct. 9.—Another movement to furnish an ambulance service for children who have been left badly crippled by the infantile paralysis epidemic has just been launched by Mrs. Philip M. Lydig and a number of club women.

The purpose of the new movement is quite similar to the one recently inaugurated by Mrs. John Hays Hammond and other prominent club women. The ambulance will be used to convey the crippled children to hospitals and dispensaries for regular treatment.

Route of the Bee.

According to a well-known apiculturist, if a bee finds a suitable patch of flowers by following a zigzag course of exploration it will seek it again by the same devious route, and not in a straight line from the nest. Thus he found that certain bees coming to visit a hollyhock in his garden always came over the wall some 25 yards to one side of the flower instead of directly opposite. They were following the devious route by which they had first found the flower.

Andrew Jackson's Birthplace.

North and South Carolinians quarrel as to the birthplace of Andrew Jackson. A tradition has it that he was born at the Waxhaw settlement in Union county, North Carolina, but Jackson himself thought that he was born near the Waxhaw creek in Lancaster county, South Carolina. The weight of evidence seems to favor the South Carolinians.

CRUEL PLAN FOR REVENGE.

How the Schemes of the Arch Plotter Failed to Work Out as She Had Intended—A Finnish Legend—Many Things of Interest to Small People.

Well, said Uncle Ben to Polly Ann and Little Ned, I suppose you are waiting for a story. This time it will be about FOXES AND SHEEP.

Once upon a time, so long ago that no one even remembers the year, there were no foxes in Iceland, but plenty of sheep—nice woolly sheep living on every farm in the country.

It happened that a man from Iceland was obliged to go to Finland to spend an entire winter there in attending to some business affairs.

Nells was a most attractive young man and every one liked him. Indeed, so very handsome and attractive was he that a wicked old witch quite in love with him and wanted to marry him.

Nells, however, had a sweetheart at home and had no mind to give her up for any one, and, finally, refused to marry the Finnish witch, and as soon as springtime came home he went, in spite of all the entreaties of the witch.

Of course she was very, very ugly and determined to be revenged on Nells.

"Very well, my fine Nells," she said, shaking her fist at the ship that was carrying him away. "I'll see that you will regret all your days the slight you have put upon me!"

So the witch made every effort to think of a plan to punish the insensible Iceland and at last hit upon a most ingenious and wicked one.

She took two foxes and repeated so many charms and incantations over them that they were completely bewitched and ready to obey all her commands.

Taking them down to the seashore she put them on board a ship bound for Iceland.

"Get!" she ordered, "to that land in which cold hearted men live and destroy the first living thing you meet and ever after all others of the same kind!"

Now the cruel witch was sure the first living things the foxes would meet would be the owners of the ship waiting at the landing place to meet it coming in, and she intended that the foxes should destroy all the people on the island, Nells himself being among them.

As it chanced, however, a sheep that had strayed away from the fold had wandered down to the water's edge, and when the bewitched foxes came ashore the sheep was directly in their path.

So the poor sheep was sacrificed and the foxes remaining maddened.

As for Nells he married his sweet heart and was very, very happy, but never again did he leave his own country.

Was It Supernatural or a Scientific Novelty?

By F. A. MITCHELL

Mary Richards sat in the dock house working her typewriter. A northeast-er was blowing in from the ocean, and the waves as they rolled under the dock shook the structure built on it. There was a telephone instrument screwed against the wall, and suddenly there came a sharp ring. Whether the electric current was stronger than usual or that Mary was induced by the terror of the storm, the bell seemed to call her to hear some bad news. She hurried to the instrument and, unhooking the receiver, held it to her ear.

"Mary," came the voice of John Talbot, to whom Mary was betrothed and who she supposed was coming up from Florida in a coast steamer of which he was third mate, "take up a board in the northwest corner of my room at home."

There was a click, and Mary knew that communication was shut off. She waited for it to be renewed, then rattled the hook that held the receiver, called, did everything she could think of to attract attention, but would not break the silence. At last, impressed by a feeling of awe, she hung up the receiver and, trembling, returned to her seat.

The George Brewster, in which John Talbot was coming north was not due to arrive till the next day. Had she put into some port on the coast below? She might have done so to avoid the storm, for she was an old vessel and not considered very seaworthy. But what did this fragmentary message mean? "Take up a board in the northwest corner of my room at home." Mary and John were to be married soon after his return from this voyage. Could the message have anything to do with the preparations that were being made for the wedding?

The next morning news was published of the loss of the George Brewster and all on board. She had foundered at sea off Cape Hatteras. Wreckage had been washed ashore identifying her.

Mary Richards when she began to recover from the shock of her loss remembered her telephone message. How had her betrothed been able to communicate with her while at sea? There was no wireless telegraph apparatus on the Brewster by which he could communicate with the shore. Besides, the voice she had heard was his, and he addressed her direct.

John Talbot's mother had died when he was a little boy, and his father had married a woman who had made life miserable for her husband and her stepson. As soon as John was old enough to earn any money she insisted that he should go to work and forced him to bring all he earned to her. This continued till he grew to manhood, when he began to retain his earnings. He had told Mary that he had accumulated several thousand dollars and before leaving on his last voyage had taken the precaution to make a will leaving it to her. But he had not told her where either the will or the property was to be found.

Mrs. Talbot was aware that John was saving money, and as soon as news came of his death at sea she began to hunt for it, or, rather, evidence of it. She believed that John had invested his savings in stocks or bonds and that he had kept his securities at home instead of placing them in a safety deposit company; but, although she hunted high and low for anything that would represent money, she found nothing.

Mary for a long while was so crushed by her loss that she thought nothing of the matter of her lover's possessions. One day she met Mrs. Talbot, who said to her with a view to learning something about the missing property:

"I suppose John turned over his savings to you before he went to sea the last time."

Mary replied that he had not done so, and that was all that was said on the subject between them. But Mrs. Talbot's words and manner set Mary to thinking. In this connection she remembered the telephone message—"Take up a board in the northwest corner of my room at home."

Wherever the message had come from, whether transmitted by natural or supernatural means, Mary now connected it with the missing property. After deliberation she concluded to go to a lawyer and ask his advice as to what to do. He agreed to send some one to the Talbot house, watch an opportunity to take up without Mrs. Talbot's knowledge the board in the floor in the northwest corner of John's room. This duty was assigned a detective, who employed a confederate to decoy the stepmother away while the detective went into the room designated and removed the board.

One morning Mary received a message from her attorney to call at his office, and on arriving there he showed her a will executed by John Talbot, leaving all his property to her, and handed her bonds the interest on which was sufficient to meet her annual necessities.

The story Mary told has been the subject of much thought among scientists, especially those who are working on new lines of transmitting the human voice without a material conductor. Some of them believe that John Talbot hit upon a natural law as yet unrevealed to the world. The psychical research people believe that the message was sent by what we call supernatural means.

Tomkins did spring from above the door and with terrible force did strike his head against the wall and also to the great wonder of all prophane exclaim in a loud voice, "Bless the woodchuck!" he was dreaming, as it seemed, that a woodchuck had seized him and bit his hand.

BLUE FLAG AN ARISTOCRAT.

This Wild Flower is the Ancestor of the Garden Iris.

As the ancestor of the stately iris of the garden, this wild flower belongs among the "first families" of the country. It occupies the same position among the flowers that the Mayflower occupies among the plants.

descendants occupy in Boston society. It leads the grand march at the Colonial Dames' ball and waves at the head of the parade of the Ancient and Honorable. It's called the blue flag.

To return to floral lore, this aristocrat displays something besides ancestry. Witness its ingenuity in perpetuating itself.

In the laws of the flower kingdom it is absolutely necessary that the blue flag be cross-fertilized—that is, for the pollen of one flower to be carried to another. To guard against self-fertilization the flower hides its stigmas in pockets, where its own pollen cannot reach them.

But the blue flag's cleverness does not stop here. Since it depends solely on the pollen from other blossoms, it calls on its friends, the bees, to bring the pollen. To make the work of the bees as easy as possible the flower provides a little "porch" at the door of its honey chamber as a landing place for the insects in their flight—Philadelphia North American.

Waking the Sleepers.

In a diary kept in 1844, it is asserted that "Allen Bridges has been chosen to wake the sleepers in meeting and, being much loved of his place, must needs have a fox tail fixed to the end of a long staff, wherewith he may brush the faces of them that will have naps in time of discourse." This energetic individual was likewise armed with "a sharp thorne" for the benefit of those who "be most sounde." There is a record of the use of this implement upon Mr. Tompkins, who was sleeping comfortably in the corner of his pew when Allen "thrust his staff behind Dame Ballard to give him a grievous prick upon the hand, whereupon Mr.

Tompkins did spring from above the door and with terrible force did strike his head against the wall and also to the great wonder of all prophane exclaim in a loud voice, "Bless the woodchuck!" he was dreaming, as it seemed, that a woodchuck had seized him and bit his hand.

HOW

To Buy and Plant Choice Bulbs For Winter

WHEN you are buying bulbs get the best ones, and after you have mastered the growth and care of one sort set out to learn about another sort.

The Chinese lily bulb is the easiest and most satisfactory to grow.

A lover of greens and flowers who has lit at her windows is a past mistress of the art of growing Chinese lilies. She says it is no art and says she simply sticks one of the bulbs into the water every week or so until all the available dishes throughout the house are filled.

It is said that nothing but drafts kill these Lull's, and drafts kill them. The best way to grow them is to leave them in a cool, shady room until the roots are well formed and the green growth has started. Then take them into the light and give them sun when they are about to bloom.

They can be planted in stones covered with water, or they can be planted in the prepared fiber sold by some of the seedmen. A little sand in the bottom of a dish of stones and water in which they are to grow is advantageous to the filices, and a thin piece of charcoal in the water keeps it sweet.

If you would have the best success with Chinese Lily bulbs get the best you can find and pay for. They may be had in packages of fifty, imported in that shape from China, and these are usually satisfactory. The flowers are already formed in the bulbs when you buy them, and unless flowers are there you cannot make them bloom. Therefore pay for good bulbs if you would have free flowers.

Geraniums, marguerites and begonias are perhaps the most satisfactory of all house plants. Geraniums and begonias give flowers for eight or nine months. The marguerite has a flowering period of only three or four months, but these months of beauty make it worth cultivating.

All these plants can be raised from cuttings. The marguerite cuttings should be planted in a soil light with plenty of good leaf mold. Begonias and geraniums thrive in a rich soil—the richer the better.

NEW TREES FOR OLD.

Why Saplings Should Be Planted About the House.

Aren't there some promising saplings wasting their good looks in your wood lot that you can find time to dig and plant near the house? Have you an old charlie tree that is getting ready to die or a held snot in the yard with no tree at all? Put in a little one, address G. B. TREN to the Farm and House, and you'll find it pays not only to beautify your home but to comfort in dog days. In the cold-ridgity of your place it may pay you to sell.

In making a tree first dig out a circle around the base of the crown of the tree and carefully make sure to get all the roots. Leave the seed on; it will grow in time. You can plant the seeds in a box.

How to Locate a Storm and Determine Its Distance.

When you see a flash of lightning count the seconds before it thunders and you can tell how far away the storm is. Since light travels 186,000 miles a second we may for all practical purposes regard ourselves as seeing the lightning the instant it flashes. But sound travels only 1,087 feet a second. Multiplying 1987 by the number of seconds during the interval between the flash and the thunder and the result is the distance between you and the storm. As a rule, says the Popular Science Monthly, from twelve to fifteen miles is the greatest distance thunder can be heard.

HOUSE ADAPTED TO PIGEONS

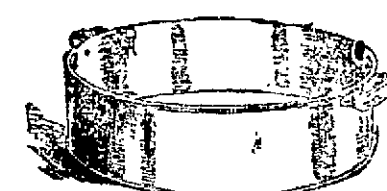

Fresh Air, Dryness and Good Drainage Are Among Essentials—South Exposure is Best.

The essentials of a pigeon house are fresh air, dryness and good drainage, sunlight and space enough for the comfort of the pigeons. A southern or southeastern exposure is best. Care should be taken to construct a house that cannot easily become infested with rats, and it is best to leave space under the house into which cats and dogs can go for rats without being able to get at the pigeons. This is usually accomplished by building the house 12 to 24 inches above the ground and boarding up the space between the ground and the floor, but leaving small doors for cats and dogs. Floors built several inches above the ground, except in warm climates, should be double, with building paper between the layers. The house should be tightly constructed on all sides to prevent any drafts. While more open and less expensive houses may be built in warm climates, the house must be comfortable in cold weather. The squabs produced in winter may be increased somewhat by heating the pigeon house, but this does not pay under most conditions. Windows should make up about one-tenth of the front of the house and be so arranged that they can be taken out during the warm weather. One window in each pen may be replaced by muslin curtains for ventilation in cold weather. The windows should be placed just below the eaves to allow the sun to shine well back into the house.

CONTROL OF LICE AND MITES

Bulletin on Subject Issued by Experts of Connecticut Station—Three Good Remedies.

Bulletin No. 86 of the Storrs agricultural experiment station on the subject, "Some Lice and Mites on the Hen," by Lamson and Minter, places emphasis on the following points:

That there is much confusion regarding the relative harmful effects of the lice and mites owing to the fact that the lice are more easily seen, with the result that they are often accused of causing injury actually done by mites.

That the lice can be easily controlled by the use of blue ointment rubbed on the hen.

That carbolicum or one of the coal tar products will kill or repel the mites if applied once a year by the right method to the roosts.

That caraway oil proves the best control measure for the scaly leg mite.

TROUBLE WITH CHICKS' LEGS

Afflicted Fowls Cannot Walk, but Appetites Remain Unabated—Exercise is Lacking.

In many flocks, without apparent cause, some of the chicks lose control of their legs. The afflicted chicks cannot walk, but their appetites remain unabated. This condition usually results from too heavy feeding without sufficient exercise.

The chicks' legs, through the lack of exercise, have become too weak to carry the rapidly increasing weight of the body.

FREE RANGE IS PREFERABLE

Geese Will Pick Up Considerable of Living If Grass is Good—Also Like Swampy Land.

Geese will obtain considerable of their living on free range if the range is good. Swampy fields where there is no green grass, however, will not support them, for they require plenty of green food and, if a swamp is handy, will dig up many worms, tender roots, etc.

Start of a Big Fire.
How a terrible fire that gutted an entire New York tenement house was caused by a combination of a milk bottle, a lamp and a peaceful tabby cat is told by Charles T. Hill in St. Nicholas.

The cat in question was resting in an open back window of a first floor flat in the tenement occupied by a spinster who was called into the front room just at the moment when an irate lodger in the house at the rear, exasperated by the nocturnal concert of two undomestic tabbies on the rear fence, shied a milk bottle at them, which landed wide of its mark and crashed against the tenement window sill. The spinster's tabby, dazed with the table cover and overcast the lamp, while the open door into the front room created a perfect draft for the flames. A more summary destruction of an immense building has seldom been known to the New York fire fighting force than this one, which is described in the official records simply by the curt phrase, "Explosion of a lamp."

What "Amen" Means.
Amen is a Hebrew word signifying yes, truly. In Jewish synagogues the amen is pronounced by the congregation at the conclusion of the benediction. Among the early Christians the prayer offered by the presbytery was concluded by the word "amen," uttered by the congregation. Justin Martyr in the earliest of the fathers who alludes to the use of the response. At the conclusion of a prayer it signifies, according to the English church edition, "so be it," after the repetition of the creed, "so it is."—Philadelphia Press.

Sarcasm.
Mrs. Newcome—My daughter plays the piano. Perhaps you've heard her.
Mrs. Newcome (with great self-restraint)—I've heard the piano.
Mrs. Newcome—Yes, my daughter Mary is very musical. Mrs. Newcome—Ah, you have two daughters then?—Musical America.

He Heard Her.
"My daughter's piano lessons have been a great expense to me."
"That so? Did some idiot tell you?"
It is wise while you are still exempt from trouble to guard against it—Sophocles.

HUNDRED MEN WANT TO MARRY GIRL.
New York, Oct. 9.—More than 100 men have offered to marry Miss Clara Bishoff, the Greenpoint, L. I., girl who said through the newspapers that she would marry any decent, respectable man who would take care of her and her mother.
Miss Bishoff, who says she is unable to earn more than $4 a week and that this is insufficient to provide for the wants of herself and mother, has put one condition on the offer; the man must command a salary or an income of $50 a week.
It is rumored that a certain captain of marines is being considered seriously by Miss Bishoff.

In Theatrical Parlance.
Russell, whose father and mother had been attending a dramatic club, was invited to a birthday dinner at the home of a little friend. Several courses accompanied with surprises had appeared when Russell said: "Well, how many more scenes are there going to be?"

Not Bad Rule of Life.
It is better to live with reference to making this a better world to live in than to going to a better world when we die. If we are doing all we can to make this a good world to be in we need have no fears of what is to become of us when our time comes to leave it.—Exchange.

A BROKEN PROMISE

By WILLARD BLAKEMAN

"Walter, you are falling into a pit."

"How so?"

"It is a delicate matter for interference. If you were not my chum I would not expose myself to such a thankless job. As it is, I am going to incur your enmity in the hope of saving you."

"Were you not my friend, instead of asking you to proceed I would send you sprawling for an imputation against a lovely woman."

"Very well; since I must enter into particulars, I refer to Miss Wallace."

"Do you mean to accuse her of anything evil?"

"Not as you mean it."

"Then wherein is she at fault? Perhaps you consider her an adventuress?"

"Not that, either."

"Then what do you mean? Speak before I—"

He raised his clinched fist. "I make no imputation against Miss Wallace except that she has a mania for bringing men to her feet and throwing them over her shoulder."

"And you consider that is what she is trying to do with me?"

"I believe she is, though my belief is based on her record, and the evidence is circumstantial."

"Explain."

"First, I know of several cases where she has infatuated men and turned them down; second, she has no fortune, and her life would be a failure without one. You are unable to take care of her only in the most expensive way."

A lover is always a doubter, and Walter Crane was no exception to the rule. "I will not trouble you for evidence," he said. "I will put the case plainly to her and learn the truth. Should any one malign me to her that is the way I should expect her to meet the charge."

His friend smiled incredulously. "Shake that sardonic look and speak what you feel like a man."

"Should any one malign you to her she would not take sufficient interest in the matter to investigate."

"Very well, prove the charge you make against her."

"What charge?"

"That she is intending to throw me over her shoulder."

"To prove that would be impossible."

"Then prove that she has treated others as you claim she will treat me."

"That can be done, but it would not suffice. She would make you believe that you are the only one of the lot to whom she has given her heart."

Stanley, who was trying to save his friend, thought for a few moments, then said:

"I am in a position to give you the best of proof in one case. I will bring you a letter from the sister of one of the victims of this woman you love, a victim whom she drove to put a bullet in his brain. The letter will state what I assert. Then I will take you to the grave of that victim, and there you shall renounce this siren, promising me that you will never see her again."

There was a long silence, which was broken by Crane, who seized his friend's hand and pressed it fervently. He was under too great a strain to speak.

"You agree?" asked Stanley. Crane nodded affirmatively.

Within a couple of days the promised statement was produced. It read simply:

"Isabel Wallace infatuated my brother, and when he proposed to her she laughed at him. A month later he committed suicide. We grieve out that he had accidentally shot himself while preparing for a hunting trip."

Walter Crane turned pale as he read the statement. Handing it back to Stanley, he said, "I am ready to perform my part of the agreement."

Stanley had come in an auto, and the two went out, and entering it, the chauffeur was told to drive to the Meadowland cemetery. At the gate they inquired for the location of the grave of Arthur Stanton, drove to it, alighted and entered the lot. There, standing beside the grave, Crane promised his friend that he would never see the siren again.

One week from that day Crane went to Stanley and, after confessing that he had broken his promise, said that Miss Wallace had explained the matter of the suicide to his entire satisfaction. She had nothing whatever to do with it.

Stanley looked at his friend in amazement, but made no reply.

"You think I'm weak," said Crane. "As for you, I know that you're the best friend I ever had; that you have tried to save me from what you consider a misfortune. There's a story within a story about this suicide business. If I could tell it to you you'd see how unjust is the statement of this lady who wrote the letter—indeed, how abominably she treated."

"Hold on, Walter," said Stanley. "The lady who wrote that letter is my fiancée. Were she not she would not have given it to me."

"A thousand pardons, dear boy! Not for the world would I—"

"Goodby, Walter!"

"Goodby! It will all be explained in time. I congratulate you on your engagement. Why didn't you tell?"

The rest was lost, for Stanley had passed out of hearing.

One month later Crane's body was found on the grave beside which he had made his promise with a bullet in his heart.

IMPORTANT CASES IN HIGHEST COURT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, October 9.—The Supreme Court of the United States today opened its fall and winter term, which promises to be one of the most important judicial sessions of recent years. For the first time in more than a year the full court of nine justices sat at the nation's highest bench, after Associate Justice John H. Clark of Cleveland, O., had been sworn in and had taken his place as junior justice at the extreme left of Chief Justice White.

A mass of important cases involving practically every phase of recent industrial and social reform legislation confronted the court when it convened today. Nearly a score of so-called "trust" cases will be argued or decided during the coming term and recent changes in the personnel of the court promises interesting times ahead. The seating of Justice Clark today moved Justice Louis D. Brandeis, from the "junior" seat, and placed him second from the bottom on the list of Supreme Court solons. Associate Justice Brandeis, the "unknown quantity" of the court, will be a center of interest this term.

PASTOR WILHELM INSTALLED.

Former Parishioners Attend Services at Bronxville.

On Sunday the Rev. F. P. Wilhelm, as pastor of the Concordia Evangelical Lutheran Church, which is being established, was installed at Bronxville, N. Y. The liturgical service was led by Pastor Slesker, and the two addresses, which were very effective and interesting, were delivered by the Rev. P. Kossener and the Rev. William Schoenfeld in German and English language respectively. Pastor Wilhelm Koepchen of New York had the honor to officiate, with the assistance of other pastors. Rev. Wilhelm will preach his initial sermon on Sunday, October 15, in the chapel of Concordia College. About 200 people from various cities attended this unusual occasion and among these people were about 15 persons from Kingston, where he formerly was situated.

FIRE HITS ROYAL SHOP.

Chemicals Prevented Damage to Building.

At 2:10 o'clock this morning while Officer Sargent was patrolling his beat on Broadway he discovered smoke coming from The Royal Shop, No. 650 Broadway and turned in an alarm from Box 73, corner of Broadway and Henry street. When the firemen arrived they found a quantity of merchandise smoldering in the rear of the store. The fire was extinguished with chemicals but not until much damage had been done by the dense smoke which poured from the building. Outside of smoke the damage was slight, and was confined to the stock in the store.

The Lady and the Dishrag.

When a woman declares that she "feels like a dish rag" she is dragging herself down to the lowest level of still life. We doubt not from the personal appearance of that bandy article of domestic utility that if any life existed at all in said rag it could not possibly fall lower or feel meaner. However, woman should never offer herself in comparison with so degraded an object for the simple reason that mankind spurns the dish rag most vehemently, and as woman exists solely for man she should not seek to lower herself in his esteem. When a rag takes up its duties in the dishpan it has reached the tag end of abandoned hope, the climax perhaps of a merry life. A dish rag might have been a lovely lady's hose in its palmy days adorned by a silken garter and surrounded by costly lingerie. But it is not of its past that I speak. It is of its present social standing, its vulgar environment and its utter self abandonment. 'Tis true that you may feel fatigued to a limp and lumpy degree, but never can you feel so utterly wretched and beyond redemption as a dish rag.—Zim in Cartoons Magazine.

Furnishing the Home.

When you plan to furnish your new home and have just so much money to spend begin by making two lists, one of the things you want and the other of things you have to have. Cross off from one and add to the other and you will get the best results from your money.

Plans for furnishing a home should begin with the kitchen. A housewife spends a good share of her time in the kitchen, and she owes it to herself to make it as attractive and easy to work in as possible.

Too many young housekeepers plan their furnishings and homes with a view to what their friends will say about them and not enough attention to the real needs.

Too many of us start furnishing our homes while our friends will see them first—at the front door—and when we get to the kitchen there is nothing left.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Sharp and Pointed.

"A good advertisement," said an advertising man, "should be as sharp and pointed as the Irishman's answer."

"The witty Judge Lord Morris was on the Irish circuit, and one evening at dinner he tried to tell a story, but an Irishman kept interrupting him."

"Finally, in despair, Lord Morris seized the interrupter by the sleeve."

"Surely," he said—"surely, man, you want to hear the story of the first breaker of Bally-Skiffreen."

"No, no, me lord," said the interrupter, "that's the tale I could ye myself yesterday!"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

The Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet
Cuts Work in Half

This marvel of convenience has places for 400 articles, all within arm's reach. But it's more than a centralized store-house. The Hoosier is an automatic servant with 40 labor-but 17 of these Hoosier features can't be found in all other cabinets combined. Into the Hoosier are built the pick of the ways for saving work that the leading Domestic Science Experts have discovered.

The picture above shows the section of your cabinet that is most important—the part that makes it a real helper. Storage space is above and below; the articles most used are placed where they are easiest reached. There is plenty of unhampered room above and around the aluminum (or porcelain) work-table.

There are no useless little partitions to chop up the space and leave no room for work. Your cabinet must have big table space to work on. The Hoosier gives it.

Six exclusive Hoosier features you must have:

- 1—The all-metal glass front flour bin.
- 2—The gear-driven shaker flour sifter which makes flour light and fluffy.
- 3—Scientific arrangement—articles needed most frequently easiest reached.
- 4—Revolving caster—the final touch of convenience.
- 5—The ingenious, big-capacity sugar bin—holds more than twice as much as most other bins.
- 6—Finally, the doors that roll back at the sides of the cabinet, entirely out of the way.

And regardless of the room in your kitchen, there's a special Hoosier model to fit, at a price you can easily afford.

Prices and Terms

Over 1,000,000 women use the Hoosier. Enormous output makes possible our low prices, which now range from $19.85 to $37.00.

Have the Hoosier delivered by paying only $1.00. Then pay for it a little at a time if you wish, without extra cost or interest.

Learn How to Save Miles of Steps

Come in and see the Hoosier—learn how to save miles of steps, hours of toil, how delightful it is to sit down at the Hoosier and do your cooking comfortably, how it helps you get good meals quickly, helps tidy up in just a few moments after meals.

SECOND OF SERIES IS NIP AND TUCK

Brooklyn Scored in First Inning and Boston Ties It in Third—Dodgers Credited With Triple Play in Fifth—Sensational Fielding.

Braves Field, Boston, Oct. 9.—A threat of rain was in the clouds when the Red Sox and Dodgers romped up to the field this afternoon for preliminary practice before the second game for the baseball championship of the world.

It was very muggy and sticky and dull, gray clouds continued to pile up over the field. The weather man was dubious about his ability to thwart Jupe Pluv and his sprinkling can.

The crowd looked to be large as the opening day. The stands and right field bleachers were filled at 1 p. m. Only a few bare patches showed in the left field, unreserved seats an hour before game time—and the fans continued to pour in. The reserved seat holders began to arrive in force after 1 o'clock.

The pre-battle betting was 5 to 3 that the Sox would win the series; ten to five that they win today's game. Not much money was wagered today owing to the scarcity of moneyed Brooklyn rosters.

Both teams got a nice ovation from the fans when they took the field. The Sox were first to indulge in batting practice. After they had concluded, the Dodgers took their fifteen minutes. Then each team practiced fielding for a quarter of an hour.

Official attendance 41,373. Receipts $13,626. National Commission share $4,162.60; players share, $44,128.04.

Johnston First Up.

First inning—Johnston up. Johnston out on fly to short. Daubert up. Daubert out on foul to Gardner. Myers up. Myers made a home run on the first ball pitched. It was a terrific smash that cleared Walker's head and rolled to the fence. Even the Red Sox fans joined in the ovation for him. Wheat up. Wheat out on fly to Hooper. One run. One hit. No errors. None left.

The game started at 1:58, two minutes ahead of scheduled time, in an effort to beat the threatened rainstorm.

Second half—Hooper up. Hooper out on fly to short. Janvyn up. He got a great hand. Janvyn out on fly to short. Walker up. Walker out on fly to Daubert. No runs. No hits. No errors. None left.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York Oct. 9.—There has been no occasion since the death of Governor Flower when the market opened with such losses from the preceding business as was sustained in the exchange today. Many of the stocks not directly influenced by the new field of under-sea German activity showed losses of from five to ten points at the beginning of business.

There was a wild scramble to sell Marine Preferred, first sales of that stock being four points apart in different parts of the room, with the opening recorded as 3,500 shares from 112 to 108, against 119 1/2 at the close Saturday, and in the next few minutes the price dropped to 107, a loss of over 12 points. Baldwin Locomotive sold at a loss of 5 1/2 to 7 1/2. There was a quorum crowd in the stock market with 30,000 shares selling at the opening at prices three points apart on different sides of the crowd, with the opening sales recorded as ranging from 112 to 109, against 116 1/2 at the close Saturday and in the next few minutes the price dropped to 108. Marine Common sold at from 39 to 37 at the opening, against 44 1/2 at the end Saturday. Crucible Steel dropped 8 points to 84. Anaconda opened all the way from 93 to 90 1/2, a loss of over five points. American Smelting opened 4 1/2 points lower at 104 1/2. American Can dropped 7 1/2 points to 58. Industrial Alcohol declined to 118 1/2, a loss of 8 1/2 points. Union Pacific fell 5 1/2 points to 143 and other railway stocks generally selling at a loss of from 1 to 3 points. The greatest loss in any of the active issues was in Republic Iron and Steel, which dropped 18 1/2 points to 60.

Around midday a better tone developed and prices regained about half of their initial losses. Over 1,000,000 shares had been dealt in during the first two hours trading, 915,000 shares changing hands in the first hour, a new record. The copper shares, the rails and a number of the "war brides" joined in an upward movement, with Steel Common selling around 110 1/2, Union Pacific at 144 1/2, and Republic Iron and Steel at 72 1/2. Marine Pfd. ranged around 108 1/2. The rate on Steel Common up to noon was as follows: Sales, $65,700 shares; open, 112, high, 113 1/2; low, 108. Money loaning at 2 1/2 per cent.

Wants Van Aken Case Tried.

When the October term of supreme court was convened this afternoon by Judge Hasbrouck, Corporation Counsel W. D. Brininger made a motion that the case of Edwin Van Aken, charged with the murder of his wife, be tried at this term. District Attorney Traver opposed the motion stating to the court that some of the witnesses' residences are outside the state. One of the witnesses in the case is Major Chandler at present on duty on the Mexican border. It is understood that there is a new witness in the case.

The court told counsel to submit briefs Wednesday and he would announce his decision at the opening of the second week.

Thrust a diamond ring into a bowl of water and the stones will glitter through the liquid; but an imitation stone loses all its brilliancy under water. MENKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)
Ernie Shore is an exception to the rule that "first impressions always are lasting." His first real appearance as a major leaguer created the impression that he was an awful flivver—that he never would do as a major leaguer.
When Shore first came from the "bushes," he was given a chance to display his wares. The enemy promptly proceeded to mace him for something like 16 runs in one inning. Shore was as wild as an African lion, and on those rare occasions when he did get the ball over the plate, it promptly was belted to the distant confines of the ball park.
Yet that same Ernie Shore assisted in pitching the Red Sox to a world's championship in 1915 and may lend a hand in performing similarly in 1916. Once he looked like the worst pitcher that ever got into the majors. Now he ranks as one of the very best. And he is improving right along.

John McGraw once owned Shore, but failed to recognize any pitching worth in him. That was in 1912 and 1913. So John let him loose, like he did "Frank" Gowdy, Dick Rudolph and the others. Now John regrets it.

Coffroth Discusses Tia Juana.
Jim Coffroth hopes to make his Tia Juana track the mecca of racing America in the winter season.
"I've got a beautiful one mile track down there, the weather is almost always ideal and I hope to hit racing to the highest possible standard," said Coffroth, who quit the fight game that made him famous, to take a "flyer" in the turf sport.
Tia Juana is 12 miles from San Diego, Cal., and just across the border in Lower California, perhaps the only peaceful section in Mexico.
The season opens November 11th, and will cover 100 or more days. Despite some torrential rains during the meet last year, and other misfortunes, Coffroth cleaned up $34,000.
Our need this season is faster horses and far better jockeys," declared "Sunny Jim." "I came east to them and it seems that I have succeeded."

"Jimmy Dutwell, Johnny and Tommy McTaggart, Eddie Martin, Frankie Keogh, Frank Murphy, Al Buxton and Eddie McCahey have promised to ride on my track. Among the eastern owners who have announced their intention of racing at Tia Juana are: Sam Hildreth, Paul Chinn, Henry Morris, H. G. Bedwell, R. D. Earle, Henry Morris and others.
"Races will be conducted every day but Monday. The purses will average $400 as a minimum which will be $100 over those of a year ago. In addition there will be a dozen or more handicap events with the purses ranging from $1,500 up to $5,000.
"Yep, the Tia Juana outlook is bright and I expect the track to make money—lots of it."

Are You Eligible?
A "high brow" golf club is in the making in Gulph Mills, near Norristown, Pa. It's an organization said to be limited only to folks who have a bankroll of $5,000,000 or more, and a family tree that branches back beyond the reign of Old King Cole.
The members of this new club, once belonged to the regular link organizations in and near Philadelphia. "It's reported that it peeved them mightily to be forced into contact with the unpedigreed 'newly rich,'" so the "blue-bloods" held an indignation meeting. As a result they are building their own golf outfit. It will be far removed from the rone of those who jab napkins between their necks and collars, accompany soup-sipping with weird noises and otherwise fracture the dear old laws of "etiquette."

FINE RALLY DAY PROGRAM.

Clinton Avenue M. E. Church Sunday School Largely Attended.

The Rally Day exercises of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church were even more impressive and successful on Sunday than they were a year ago, and so large was the attendance that the church auditorium was filled.
Superintendent E. R. Schepmoes and Assistant Superintendent F. S. Hyatt were aided in the preparing of the fine program by a committee on arrangements consisting of Clifford Wheeler, Miss Marie Brown and Miss Clara Salpague. The musical portion of the exercises included a very pleasing vocal duet sung by the Messrs. Macdon Vaneier and Beatrice Freer; an equally delightful male quartet, composed of the following singers: Messrs. Leo Brit, L. I. Hilder, George Miller and Abram Van Aken; and singing by the Sunday school.

The chief address was given by Charles Van Aken, formerly of Kingston, now for many years of New York. Mr. Van Aken spoke appreciatively of the past life of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Sunday school, of its present prosperity and prophesied a glowing future for the same, provided the pupils of today are as loyal and as true as in the past. Touches of humor colorized the address which was listened to with closest attention. The pastor, the Rev. Mr. Cranston, addressed the school on the lesson for the day, the subject being "Paul Before Felix." The attendance of many of the classes was over 40 per cent. A splendid showing for Rally Day. To Miss Doris Bell's class belonged the honor of having a 100 per cent attendance the same record that this class had at Rally Day last year. The infant department also showed a splendid attendance of 94 children. 5 home new scholars. It was felt that this Rally Day would be an inspiration for the Sunday school throughout the year.

SCANDAL IMMINENT ON GAME RECEIPTS

Dodgers Confident Despite Initial Defeat by Score of 6 to 5—Experts Pick Red Sox Team to Win World Series Handily.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Boston, Oct. 9.—Quaint as it may seem, the Dodgers will enter the second battle for the Diamond Championship this afternoon feeling that they will have the psychological advantage over their Red Soxed foes, who defeated the Dodgers 6 to 5 in the first game Saturday in spite of the ninth inning rally of the national League champions.
The weather today was a little cloudy with signs of clearing up early.

The assemblage of star ball players, famous managers and sporting writers here is almost unanimous in asserting that "it looks like another championship for Boston." They've analyzed that exhibition of Saturday and found that the Sox, in team play and in individual brilliancy, overshadowed the Dodgers. Also, they tell you to bear in mind that the Sox now must snare only three games to land the big end of the purse, while the Dodgers have to win four.
"Fine," says Ebbets.

"The way that first game ended was the best thing that could have happened for my boys," said Ebbets. "They entered the game nervous and somewhat awed by the Sox. They had heard much about the invincibility of the pitching staff of the Sox. The boys didn't play up to their real form in the early part of that game. But that ninth inning rally of ours was the one big thing they needed. It didn't win the game for us, but it won for the boys probably something even greater—a belief in their ability to beat the Sox. That was something about which they might have been skeptical at first."

"Some believe that the winning of the game meant much for the morale of the Sox. But I really think the scare we gave them in the ninth robbed them of all the confidence they had at the start and will have a sort of nervous effect upon them henceforth. So, you see the psychological effect of that game was to increase the confidence of my boys, and relieve the nervous tension, while it took from the Sox some of their cock-sureness."

Scandal Over Receipts.

Incidentally, a scandal seems to be brewing over the official receipts and attendance totals on that first game. Something seems to be radically wrong somewhere, in the opinion of many. The attendance as officially announced 38,117, which is something like 7,000 less than the record made last year. The receipts were only $76,489 against $83,191 for the first Boston game in 1915.
It looked as if the crowd Saturday was as large as when the record was made in 1915. Every seat, with the exception of a few in the extreme left bleachers, seemed filled. Hundreds stood in the "bull pen." Yet the officials claim that the crowd was about 7,000 less than seating capacity.

The Sox management printed as many tickets this year as it did last. The scale of prices was the same. On Friday it announced it had sold out every reserved seat. That would indicate that the receipts for Saturday's game should total approximately as much as they did for the first game a year ago. But they were about $6,702 less.

The score by innings in Saturday's game is as follows:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Superbas	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	4	5
Red Sox	0	0	1	0	1	0	3	1	6

"DRYS" STRETCH A BANNER TO BREEZE

Perhaps the Prohibition party in this city has less members than any other political party, but it has showed its zeal and aggressiveness in putting up the first political banner of the season. Saturday at 2 p. m. there was hung across the street at the corner of St. James street and Broadway a thirty foot banner with the names of Hanly and Landreth, the Prohibition candidates for president and vice-president.
Adjutant Mott's cornet called the people together, after which he and Mrs. Mott effectively rendered a song composed by Mrs. Mott for the occasion entitled "The Banner Song." It was greeted with rounds of applause.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. John Anthony of South Rondout, who also gave a short but pointed address, which was followed by an address by the Rev. Dr. P. N. Chase. Dr. Sabler was called for and made a few remarks.
Prohibition literature was given to all present. It was surprising to see how eager the people were to get it, and nearly every voter present donned a Prohibition button. Three rousing cheers were given for Lorenzo Short, who had labored with such zeal to secure the banner.

Movie Man Sued.

A suit to recover $14 alleged to have been taken, was tried in city court before Recorder Lang, acting city judge, on Saturday. The suit was brought by Mrs. Melinda Garrison against Emerson Powell, the expressman. The action was brought to recover $14 which Mrs. Garrison claimed was taken from the pocket of a coat hanging in the clothes closet at the time Powell's men moved her furniture to another home. After hearing the evidence in the case Recorder Lang found no cause of action and dismissed the complaint. John M. Cashin represented Mrs. Garrison and Chris. J. Flanagan represented Mr. Powell.

The Blue Envelope Tonight.

"The Blue Envelope," which had a successful run in New York city, will be presented by Richard Lambert at the Kingston opera house this evening for the first time in this city. The play is filled with ludicrous situations resulting from two men who take refuge in a sanitarium in the guise of dangerously sick patients and while there are claimed by an adventuress—one as her husband and the other as her lover. The original Cort Theater production will be presented.

Roscoe Man Arrested.

Edward Eckert, 40 years old, of Roscoe, Sullivan county, came to Kingston on Saturday and proceeded to get drunk. That evening he had succeeded so well that Police Commissioner locked him up for safe keeping Sunday morning after Edward had sobered up he was arraigned before Recorder Lang who gave him an opportunity to get out of town.
